Congratulations
Hit the Ground Running

- First year is important!
- How does this impact your identity? Logo, letterhead, etc.
- What is your marketing plan- promotional items, signage, communication?
- Impact on scheduling- special celebrations, theme for certain events, etc.
- Flexibility, Budget, Enjoy It!
Re-Presentation/Kick-off Ceremony

• Is there a way to bring what is happening here in DC back to your community?
• Re-present award plaque in a way that is meaningful to your school community - invite stakeholders
• This year should be full of memories for the entire school community
Gifts to Celebrate

- Expresses gratitude and promotes achievement
- Pens
- Pencils
- Car magnets
- Silicon wrist bands
- T-shirts
- Pins and scarves for teachers
- Tie for principal
Show Your Appreciation

• This was not a one-person effort
• Appreciate faculty and staff - special breakfast (blueberry muffins, blueberry jam, etc.)
• Appreciate your students - blue shaved ice, special blue dress-up days, etc.
• Appreciate your parents, alumni, other stakeholders
Blue Ribbon “School”

- Pride should be evident in the school building
- Blue ribbons to hang around school and in doorways
- Door decorating contest—involve students, parents, teachers
- Banners in building and exterior
Transform Current Events

- Think about school identity-see it through a “Blue” lens
- Bull and Oyster Roast became “Blues” Roast with jazz music, Mardi Gras theme, and New Orleans inspired menu
- Fall Harvest Festival-Fireworks display with blue lights
- Whole school field trip to Orioles game

CONGRATULATING SAINT LOUIS DE MONTPORT CATHOLIC SCHOOL, A BLUE RIBBON SCHOOL

HON. SUSAN W. BROOKS
OF INDIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, October 23, 2012

MRS. BROOKS OF INDIANA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate an outstanding school in my district that is being honored as a 2013 National Blue Ribbon School. It is a pleasure to congratulate Saint Louis de Montfort Catholic School in Fishers, Indiana in celebration of this special occasion.

The National Blue Ribbon designation, given by the U.S. Department of Education, is awarded to both public and private schools across our great nation. Started by President Reagan and given annually since 1982, the award recognizes great American schools that achieve very high learning standards or are making significant improvements in the academic achievements of their students. In my district and across the country, the award recognizes the great educators, students and parents who have worked so hard to ensure Indiana’s children reach their full potential and achieve academic success.

For all of these reasons and many more, I am so proud that Saint Louis de Montfort is receiving this prestigious designation. It is a wonderful acknowledgement of the school’s commitment to providing young Hoosiers an exceptional education. While 417 schools nationwide may be nominated, only 286 are chosen as a National Blue Ribbon School, making this recognition all the more impressive.

Serving children from junior kindergarten through eighth grade, Saint Louis de Montfort Catholic School provides its students with an outstanding education in both academics and the Catholic faith. It has consistently been graded as an “A” school by the Indiana Department of Education and is a leader in incorporating technology and learning in the classroom, while also engaging its students in daily prayer, religion classes, liturgical celebrations, and service learning projects. As a mother whose children attended Catholic school, I applaud Saint Louis de Montfort for its work to ensure its students engage with the Hoosier community and remain service-oriented.

As a member of the Education and the Workforce Committee, I also want to acknowledge how important it is to our nation’s future to encourage and raise a new generation of Americans who have the skills and knowledge to succeed both in and out of the classroom. Students like those at Saint Louis de Montfort give me hope that we will accomplish this vital mission. Their outstanding work is an inspiration to students, educators and parents across the nation. Once again, congratulations to Saint Louis de Montfort. I am very proud of you.
IN RECOGNITION OF
SAINT LOUIS DE MONTFORT CATHOLIC SCHOOL
FISHERS, INDIANA
2013 NATIONAL BLUE RIBBON SCHOOL
September 2013

Congratulations on earning recognition as a 2013 National Blue Ribbon School. The U.S. Department of Education is pleased to acknowledge your efforts to support every student in meeting high academic standards. Your school is an inspiring example of excellence in education.

President Obama and I firmly believe that making a world-class education available to every young person is critical if our nation is to meet the challenges of the future. As an exemplary school, you are integral to fulfilling this generational commitment.

I commend you for establishing solid educational foundations, setting high standards and expectations, and using data to tailor instruction to students’ needs and strengths. Your school is a model for the nation. Thank you for your contributions to helping all students realize their potential and their dreams.

I and my colleagues at the U.S. Department of Education look forward to celebrating your accomplishments at the 2013 National Blue Ribbon School awards ceremony in Washington, D.C. Recognition events will be held November 18-19, 2013, at the Omni Shoreham Hotel, 2500 Calvert Street, N.W. Two representatives from your school are invited to attend.

Congratulations again on your impressive accomplishments. It is my hope that you will become a beacon for other educators, working with them and sharing the practices that make your school so deserving of this national recognition.

Marketing Your School

So you’re a National Blue Ribbon School – now what?

You need to Market Yourself as a National Blue Ribbon School
Identifying Your Identity and Building Your Brand

- A strong brand and identity are the foundational elements of your school’s mission.
- Branding is much more than appearances. Creating a clear, consistent message and visual identity for your school is key to your marketing success. Your school name, logo and marketing materials are important components that make up your Catholic school’s image. Now, the distinction (and emblem) of being a National Blue Ribbon School is part of this brand.
Your brand journey should begin with self-examination.

- How are we presenting ourselves and talking about ourselves to various audiences?
- Are we consistent in our presentation?
- Are we speaking with one voice across all messages?
- If we put all of our marketing materials together on one table, would they look similar?
Developing Your Year-Round Marketing Plan

A basic marketing program involves identifying your target audiences, determining what they need and designing strategies to show how your school’s programs and benefits meet those needs.

FOUR STEP PROCESS
Step 1: Gather Research and Input

• Assess current marketing efforts to determine what works and what needs to be improved, expanded or perhaps eliminated.

• Analyze the situation through a SWOT analysis

• Conduct research and ask for input to determine your school’s position in the education marketplace.
Step 2: Determine Goals and Develop Your Message

- Set goals and objectives. Your plan should include one or two specific goals that you’re trying to achieve over the next year.
- Determine your audiences. Determine what audiences you need to reach to accomplish your goals.
- Craft key messages. Determine messages that will resonate with each audience.
Step 3: Establish Your Strategy

• Put it all together in a plan. For each audience, list the tactics you will use to achieve your goals and objectives.

• Review your plan to make sure that it’s actionable with the people and resources available, that it will help you achieve your goals, and that it will enhance your school’s mission.
Step 4: Evaluate Progress

- As you carry out the plan, track your results and compare what actually happened against your original goals and objectives.
- Plans are living documents that should change and adapt with the changing needs and resources of the school.
Connecting it to your NBR Award

When Building Your Marketing Plan:

• Announcing your earned distinction (the good news)
• Sharing what makes your school the best (the best practices)
Marketing the Good News

• Share the news with your community (Newsletter, Website, Social Media, Publications)

• Formal Press Announcement (Coordinate in conjunction with an event)
Marketing the Good News

Build a campaign for the year.

• Incorporate it into all existing school events: Assemblies, Open Houses, HSPT, Concerts/Exhibits, Pep Rallies, Graduations
• Create a blog to highlight how your school continues to exhibit its National Blue Ribbon School excellence
• Offer a series of tours and demonstrations to “discover your National Blue Ribbon School”; Invite media and community members as well as past, present and
• Create a new school video or lookbook that is inspired by the distinction
• Use it in your advancement efforts! When crafting your messaging to donors, articulate the investment of their potential gifts
Marketing the Best Practices

Remember the “Why” and “How”

• Why did your school receive the award?
• Why is your school different than the rest?
• Why should families look to you as a choice for education?
• Why are peer schools looking to you as a leader in academics and innovation?
Marketing the Best Practices

Show... Don’t Tell

• Identify your school’s niche area and package it in a new, exciting and meaningful way. Don’t change what you’re doing, change how you talk about it.

• Create a series of presentations showcasing your best practices. Invite families and teachers from feeder schools and peer schools as well as past, present and prospective families.
Don’t Forget the Photo Op!
Closing

• Share ideas.
